Word of the Week from Dictionary Dee

MFL'S

Convivial

If you were describing an atmosphere or event, that happens to be friendly, lively and enjoyable, then this word is perfect!

In Film Studies...

The party that Mr Gatsby throws in 'The Great Gatsby', might be described as

convivial.

In English Literature...

Fezziwig throws a

convivial

party in stave 2 of 'A Christmas Carol' for his employees and people in the community.

1st Place

We were SO impressed with all of the entries! A big BRAVO to our winners!

"For always trying their best in class and making a fantastic start to Year 8."

LANGUAGE FACT OF THE WEEK:
Around 30% of the English language comes from French.

SPANISH IDIOM:
'Ser un melón' in Spanish (literally to be a melon) translates as 'to not be very intelligent'.

Well done to all of those who took part in the lesson 6 quiz for European day of languages! Huge well done to

Jess Bowen in Y10 and Ashley Macquire in Y9

Y10 Exams

Make sure you're using the crucial knowledge / vocab challenges in preparation for the exams – you will get these from your teachers.

Revision guides for Y11s

If you want to purchase revision guide & practice books, we have some in MFL (£5 for both books – normally £12!!)

At Dove, we believe that no young person should be held back from reaching their full potential - but in the UK, 9 out of every 10 girls with low body esteem put their health at risk by not seeing a doctor or by skipping meals.

Since 2004, Dove has been building self-esteem in young people - and by 2030, we'll have helped  $\frac{1}{4}$  billion through our educational programmes.

Ira Aldridge

1807-1867

Ira was the first black actor to play major Shakespearean parts.

He won acclaim as Othello and for many other roles such as King Lear, Shylock, Macbeth and Hamlet. Ira was born in New York, 1807.

Ira arrived in the UK by 1825 and quickly started to find acting work. In 1863 he became a British citizen. He died whilst on tour in Poland in 1867.

Did you know the original 'Greatest Showman' in the UK was black. His name was Pablo Fanque

'Laying down the Law'

An interview with Mr Whitehead (senior)

Why did you become a lawyer?

At university I did a non-law degree and went to the Careers advisers to discuss options. They recommended the law on the basis of my interests.

What type of law did you do?

I started with criminal law advising and representing people in court, preparing cases for barristers to present in the Crown Court. Over the years I worked in:

- Personal injury
- Matrimonial (marriage & divorce)
- Probate (dealing with wills)
- Company & commercial property
- Housing and antisocial behaviour law.

What are the main types of lawyer?

- Solicitors - work in legal practices or for big companies and do a wide variety of work
- Barristers - work in 'chambers' and spent a lot of time in court with wigs & gowns
- Legal Executives - legally qualified and can do some work independently
- Paralegals - not always qualified but help out other lawyers

Any advice you'd give to an aspiring lawyer?

- Be prepared for long hours and challenging work, the law is complex and often obscure
- You need a good understanding of English to clearly express concepts and thought
- You will be held to the highest possible standards of behaviour and competence
- Many clients come to you in great distress and you must be able to empathise
- Be aware that you cannot fix" everything" for clients.

What qualifications would you recommend?

- A good understanding of English is needed as you will need to persuade people of your argument.
- Skills that may be learned or improved by training in the performing arts, formally or via "Am Dram"
- A law degree is the usual but not only entry route. Consider the legal executive training courses or paralegal courses.
- Legal apprenticeships now offer another route and often combine business skills with learning the law.

PE hoodies have arrived and have been given out in lesson. A new order will be placed after half term for those who didn't get one this time.

Mr Farr will be participating in trials for a vaccine for Covid-19.

Performed in collaboration with the UK Government's Vaccines Taskforce, the trial will investigate the safety, efficacy and immunogenicity of NVX-CoV2373. Novavax. He may trial the vaccine or he receive a placebo in these double blind phase three tests.

Chanel Baker Y9 made her debut for Kidsgrove Athletic Girls U14 this weekend. Not only did Chanel have a great game, she scored a goal and got 'Girl of the Game' in their 4-1 Victory. Huge Well Done Chanel!!
